Jimmy Rogers from the Meads, along with Tary Malmon, Cleverbrook trainees, at a dance held at the Center.

Trainees' Swinging Party

A Mizzard, paper hearts and the Meads added to the excitement of the Valentine Dance at Cleverbrook Center, given by the Cleverbrook Center Work shop trainees for the pre-conviction center of Cleverbrook Center and the County Jail (Shelton Workshop staff and trainees).

The Cleverbrook Center Workshop staff, Robert Gillette, director; Mrs. Virginia L. Coston, vocational rehabilitation counselor; Karl Eagle, evaluation supervisor and Walter Thompson, workshop supervisor sponsored the dance.

"Cleverbrook Center trainees had spent much of the week making decorations for the dance, including a large sign—'HOURS 5-10:30'—decorating the Meads."

The Meads are a group from The Celler, which includes Jimmy Rogers, Paul Winkler, Bob Francisco (Fuzzy), Tim Coniglio and Bill Winters. An additional attraction for the evening was Jim Shum, lead singer of the Shadow of Knight.

According to Mrs. Virginia Coston, "Except for brief breaks, the trainees continued to express their feelings through music called dancing. One of the trainees even went so far as to join the male singer by singing along with him. The main singer accepted this encouragement and the two continued the song as a duet," she said. "It was most rewarding to see the interaction between the local members and the trainees. Every musician seemed to take a special interest in providing a good time for these young adults," said Mrs. Coston.

"Interactions from this music-making activity were taken into order to replenish their energy supply," added Mrs. Coston. Roger W. Granda of the Super Shop Service Station at 406 E. Northwest Highway donated a number of cases of soda for the dance.

NEAR THE end of the dance, Paul Simpson from The Celler announced that he had brought a number of records, ear, rings and pictures of the Meads. Shaded of the Knight and Saturdays Children which he was giving to the Workshop to be distributed by the director. He also said he was planning to donate a juke box supplied with records to Cleverbrook Center Workshop.

The dance ended about 10 p.m. when guests arrived to return the weary, but happy trainees to their homes," according to Mrs. Coston.

Some Day

There is less than a week remaining for loyal Americans to order their Stichenmeyer hats.

The former superintendent of High School Dist. 214 is expected to return Sunday for a head visit. Everybody remembers Harold L. Stichenmeyer. He is the fellow they named John Hersey High School after in recognition of his 21 years service to our school children.

The tribute proves one thing: School board members do not read Hersey's books.

Stichenmeyer left town hours of went along about sixteen of last year. He was reported at various times in such places as Alaska, Texas and Arizona—places where people think

That is the problem facing the people at home in the first week before Stichenmeyer comes back to collect his pension—they have got to think like anyone you pass on stretching "Wadsworth House Harold L. Stichenmeyer" you have a big project. The village board had best get busy and widen some of the streets otherwise the houses will be full.

There is a big difference between the return of our hero and some other former school officials, say a fellow like Chicago's Ben Willis, who might have to stand in on the line time.

There must be a great deal of grunting by the combined brain sections from all our high schools. After all, Hersey provided the athletic fields, and other items, that Hersey High did not get until the 1920s.

Stichenmeyer pleaded before he left not to burden a future head. Since Stichenmeyer team with a name like his own, he suspected it would only be magnified by the Downstate newspapers.

His modesty is overdone when you consider that as late as last week Illinois was still running such basketball teams as 7-0, Hammond-Hammond, Collinsville and Illinois.

Building the haters need not go to waste. As the Hersey High goes to the basketball fields they'll be making buses long enough to carry the entire class. "Talk, talk, talk," come back Harold L. Stichenmeyer.

"WELL, you won't catch ME in one of THOSE!"

Arlington Gets Sophomore Title

Palatine Captures Wildcat Relays Crown

BY BO CASTELLANE

Palatine's varsity track team walked off with its second straight championship in the third, three-year history of the Wildcat Relay indoor track meet at Wheeling Friday.

The Pirates tallied 65 points to romp away from the rest of the field, which was led by Wheeling's 38 and Coates' 32 in the second and third-places.

Prospect finished 16th for fifth with Forest View in both scored 11 points, and Elk Grove placed seventh on nine. Arlington placed ninth in the 100-meter field with only three points.

PALATINE DOMINATED the meet with seven blue-chip performances in 12 events, and set one new meet record. Crest Dayton won the mile for the Pirates in 4:32.8, earning the old mark of 4:34 set last year by Bob Yeazel of Arlington.

Wheeling was the only Dist. 214 entry to grab a blue ribbon, and the Wildcats secured three.

Bob Maize was the pole vault with a 12-foot, 6-inch run. Tom Paterski placed first in the low hurdles with a 2.5 timing, and the Wildcats 12-lap relay was in 4:08.6. The team included Steve Mayhew, Al Engage, Gary Koepfer, and Tom Buttable.

PROSPECT GOT the district's only second place, as Steve Hansen was runner-up in the mile and Steve Backback placed second in the long jump.

Third-place finishes were given to Dist. 214 accounted for eight.

John Gaud of Wheeling grabbed the 400-yard relay as he led by some extra efforts in the Wildcat Relays.

Backyard Record
Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Reds holds the collegiate record for most points scored during a career with 2,975 in three years at the University of Cincinnati.

Town & Country Charge. It gives you more time to enjoy spring fever.

Here's our plan.

You make a list of all the things you'll need this Spring—new clothes, garden tools, lumber, tires, everything—and it'll help you get to the bottom of it. And fast. So fast you'll have time to enjoy being lazy, for a change.

First, you can shop where it's convenient for you, because you've got the card that tells them who you are in over 43,000 stores. That's fast.

Next, you can't run out of money. You can shop all day from Garden Center to gasoline station, and never be caught short. That's fast.

But, you always know where you stand. With every purchase you get a uniform little sales slip that tells you when you've purchased and how much in cost. That's our charge.

And besides being fast and organized, your Town and Country Charge is free. As long as you pay for your shopping within 25 days of the billing date, there's no charge. If you extend payments, there's a charge, of course. But it's computed as low bank rates.

Shop in for your Town and Country Application. You don't have to a regular bank customer to get one. It's just one of the services you can rely on from our bank.

400 BANKS SAY YOU'RE GOOD FOR THE MONEY.

Candidate Calls Joint Meeting 'Stacked Deck'

Independent Village trustee candidate George Burlingame has declined to appear at a March 20 meeting sponsored by the Arlington Heights Community Council.

He says he would be facing a "stacked deck."

"There's a strong machine in operation," said Burlingame.

In a letter to the people of Arlington Heights, Burlingame had called L. Q. Voss, president of the council and a member of the Caucus committee "diagonal" and "diagonal."

"The council meeting would be stacked," Burlingame said. "I would stand alone against people whose affiliations I know."

When informed that Richard Cowen, program chairman for the council, would be moderating the meeting, Burlingame said he decided to appear.

COWEN ANNOUNCED earlier the week that the purpose to question the candidates would include answers representing various Arlington Heights residents.

Day news editor Jack A. Vandenberg will be one of the panelists. Vandenberg said he would not be at the meeting but has no quarrel with Burlingame or his candidacy and that he would direct his questions partially to candidates appearing at the Community Council meeting.

"I will be appearing at a presentation of the League of Women Voters and will have my news views," Burlingame said. "I believe that can candidates can hear."

Harry the "invasion rabbit" is back home. Harry, who's his full name according to Mrs. Carol Chasney, happened out of the Chasney house and landed on the front page of The Day and Night.

Dist. 25 Panel To Consider Vote to Raise School Tax

By BRUCE CUTLER

A special referendum on elementary school building in the 25th district will be considered tonight by a citizens' committee organized by the school board.

The committee will receive recommendations from the executive board which meets at 8 p.m. in the district's administrative building, 301 W. South St.

The referendum appears to be the most serious of the school board's proposals to raise taxes for school construction.

"Giants in Sky" Choice of Jr. Literary Guild

By NORMAN RICHARDS

"Giants in the Sky," a book written by Norman Richards of Arlington Heights, has been chosen by the Junior Literary Guild.

The "giants" are dragons. The book is an illustrated history of the dragons and the way in which they were tamed.

Richards said he has had a long interest in dragons and a particular fascination with dragons. "I wanted to see the new generation about these giants in the sky, and the young people's book was the best way to do it," he said.

Ex-Arlington Couple Likes Life in London

THE ARLINGTON DAY

"Living in London is a wonderful, instructive experience," said Justin A. (Burr) Nelson, a former Arlington Heights resident.

"But he'll be back to the United States," he continued, "and Arlington Heights will be a lot better than the town around."

Nelson, a former member of the Arlington Heights Village Board and an officer of Faith Lutheran Church, was in London last fall.

He and his wife returned for a visit last week, and spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of English life.

"You have to go shopping every day," Mrs. Nelson said. "And since there are very few supermarkets, you have to go to a lot of different stores to get what you want."

"They don't waste big refrigerators," said her husband. "You can't run a refrigerator more than a day's supply of food."

"Besides which you have to bring your own shopping bag," he said. "You have to use the way home," said Mrs. Nelson. "So you plan carefully. You don't buy too much at a time."

"SERVICES," though, she said, "are much better than in the United States. You can get a window washer and gardener for very reasonable prices. When we live in London Court, south of London, everyone has a gardener."

"The weather," said Nelson, "is much better. The weather, against the noise of the English people, is moderate."

"There's less snow out, but there's less snow too," said Mrs. Nelson. "The English people have a sense of order and a sense of restraint," said Mrs. Nelson. "People were in line for a bus or a taxi without any reason. They were in line for the Northwestern station that morning, and waited half an hour for a cab."

"There isn't the sense of pressure or the sense of opportunity that you find in America," said Mrs. Nelson. "The English are very conservative, and not so free, freely, but reserved."

The Nelsons lived in London.

very different from most American cities. They spoke of a sense of history, of an almost small-town intimacy to parts of the city.

"When you go to Chicago to an Englishman, he thinks of progress," said Mrs. Nelson. "Their image of American cities comes right out of our noses and we desire. They wonder how we do it."

EVIDENCES of the World War II bombing of London are still to be seen, the Nelsons said. "Most of the modern parts of the city, the skyscrapers, have sprung up from the bomb-damaged areas," said Nelson.

The most look at everywhere, the Nelsons agreed. Long hair and miniskirts are not just in the nightclubs and magazines, they are in the streets and in the homes.

When asked to see more of the English character, the Nelsons said they saw it in the streets. "I found them more polite, more generous, and less concerned with money than Americans."

"ENGLISH men are happy," said Mrs. Nelson. "They are nearly 100 percent against Viet Nam. They understand why we're there."

When asked what they missed from America, Mrs. Nelson said, "Strongly enough, the TV screen. I miss B&W, and watching a program all the way through to see much of a story on the TV screen. The Nelsons said they missed the "American way of life" and the "American way of thinking."

"I don't just get used to driving down the left side of the street," she added. "I miss being able to get a taxi or a subway at a really good price."

The Nelsons have a daughter, 19, in school in Germany, and a son, 17, in school in Arlington Heights.

They will return to London this Monday or Tuesday.

Dist. 25 Referendum On Agenda

RD north of Road R. The committee provides a plan that allows the school district to move all costs to the preliminary work by voters next summer referendum.

The contract for the first referendum, "working" drawings to be 25 per cent completed by the date of a referendum. The referendum, a 10-cent educational planing will stop the fee will be paid and the referendum is carried and the bonds sold on or in May, 1967.

After approving the contract, the school board declined to recommend differences between the program recommended by the building subcommittee of the citizens study group.

THE BUILDING subcommittee suggested a building program estimated to cost between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. This plan called for eight classrooms, 20,000, two rooms at Kensington School, four at Elm School, 12 at Ivy Hill and 11 classrooms at Rand Junior High.

The school district includes 10 other elementary schools, Duane, Dwyer, Glenview, North, Park, Patton, Ridge, Westgate, Wilcox and Wood. It has three junior high schools, Miner, South and Thomas.

South Junior High is being considered.

The citizens study group was formed Nov. 4 and was asked to evaluate the school system and recommend a course of action.

The school board also requested recommendations for additional school buildings, new additions to the school system and recommended a course of action.

The school board also requested recommendations for additional school buildings, new additions to the school system and recommended a course of action.

CITIZENS CALL for a referendum on Dist. 25 clarified the committee's role as appointed by the board on the basis of the district's growth.

"Some (Citizens members) thought the Committee was to be a 'Sales Training Department' for another referendum," said the chairman.

"The chairman assured members that a referendum would be the result of a careful analysis of the facts," he said. "It was not the subject of the committee to sell."

"If it was the recommendation of the citizens," he added, "the committee would be prepared to submit its recommendations to the voters."

The referendum deadline, set at 10:00 a.m. on April 1, is the last date of the referendum and building funds by 2:17 p.m. respectively.

Model Building Class Open

Registration for Building Model Park District's Model Building Class is still open for children for a fee of $2.50. Model and map will be provided at the class which is open to 3rd through 5th graders.

The session begins March 14 at 10 a.m. and April 25 at 10 a.m. at the Carl Sandburg Junior High School on Tuesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

MRS. ETHEL MEAL

FRED HYSSELL JR.

A total of four candidates will seek to fill three vacancies on the Board of Education of Township High School Dist. 214.

Two Mount Prospect residents filed petitions Saturday morning, the last date district residents were eligible to enter as candidates.

Fred Wessell Jr., of 800 S. William, was the last candidate to file his petition. He has lived in Mount Prospect for six years and is in sales with the National Business Loan of Chicago.

He and his wife, Jeanne, have five children, Tami, 17, Laura, 14, Beth, 12, Tammy, 9, and Angie, 8. His two oldest daughters are students in Forest View High School.

"I am interested to know where my tax money is going and how it is being used," said Wessell.

"And I don't believe that we ever had a representative from the south side of Mount Prospect as a member of the board," he said.

THE CANDIDATES will be listed on the ballot in order of the time their petitions were filed with the high school district.

The first name on the ballot will be that of Mrs. Ethel Meal of 1901 Clark St., Mount Prospect. Mrs. Meal is the mother of three children and has been an active member of the League of Women Voters and the PTA.

Help for Too High Foreheads

BY MARILYN HELLERS
Woman's Editor

We recently devoted several weeks to helping women readers with hair care and styling, but we haven't forgotten the men.

We'll leave the problem of long hair versus short hair for men and direct our attention to the male who has reached the stage where his forehead is gradually increasing, or his hair seems to be quite a bit thinner, or the fringe is sagging, or a night cap is bad at night so he won't catch cold.

The World Book Encyclopedia lists as one of the "abuses of hair" the use of hair cream. Partial baldness is a thinning of hair; even baldness is absence of hair from areas that are normally covered by hair.

Baldness is usually caused by inheritance with women of a bald family passing the trait to their sons. The male frequent baldness is pattern baldness. It "grows down" by, certain areas becoming bald, according to Eugene Zylstra, organization president.

May be Dad is tired of being teased by the family and is friends about his "Tul Boyer Look." It may cause help to just around the corner of a local beauty salon is preparing a lounge and wig shop just for Dad. The shop will be open during the evening just for male customers. Here Dad can re-

Little Things Mean a Lot, When It Comes to Parties

BY BETTY ADINSE

Somehow parties are looked forward to with the low eb of winter. Even the monthly Saturday night bridge get-together can be a lot more fun if the hostess takes a bit of shopping for the party.

What can you get for a couple of dollars that might be useful and different? Well, I've wandered in and out of a few stores doing some price shopping for you.

Something different that either a man or a woman would enjoy are the small, matted, ready to be framed wood block prints at the Chandler Shop at 35 S. Vail in Arlington Heights. Almost like a hand-drawn etching these block and white line drawings are clear and unusual and sell for $1.85 each.

Or a special first prize for the afternoon gift group that would have your party long remembered is one of the small, round, ceramic plates of dried flower arrangements. One of these plates is in any room in the house and the round, soft colors blend with any color scheme at $2.50 at the Chandler Shop.

Don't miss the walnut dress chest. Old fashioned marble top, tiny drawers and an excellent mirror, this would make a conversation piece as a delightfully different hostess. Meanwhile, back to the party - if I just didn't want you to miss this unusual antique.

Nearly every woman could use an extra special spoon-even if the spoon's charm is a good collection. One of these Spoon spoons at $2.50 at Perry and Ribbitt could be a special prize for your next party. These popular Villano spoons would be wonderful for jam or jelly and perfect for those petite sugar bowls that look overblown with the standard sugar spoons.

Another item I noticed at Perry and Ribbitt is a plastic, colored bracelet. Colors and even colors are popular in the spring and summer and these are sparkling, iridescent, col-work off dry skin and oil circulation. At $1 this would be an unusual, special prize.

Or gather together ribbons, bows, scratch tape and party gift wrapping paper in one package as a welcome and valuable first prize and have all the materials for your selection prize placed with your special selection of color.

NESTLED in about the middle of the Elms Shopping Center is the House of Jans, a gift shop that is something special. And here for your next party you might pick up a few "everyday" necessities - a head scarf, a handkerchief, a cushion from the palms to the great colored prints and so on at $1.25. Or a new addition of a glamorous blouse. These honey nut hair covers are wonderful for any age to change the look of the hair.

ched girls placed in their respective divisions, picking up two fourths, a fifth, and a sixth.

Loretta Griffin scooped one of the fourths in the eight girls class, and Barbara Wieda finished fifth in the junior girls final. Mary Lou Hummel was fifth for the intermediate girls, and Cindy Musma rounded out Mount Prospect's scoring with a sixth in the pairs girls derby.

Ex-Arlington Star Hurls For Eastern

BOWLING with Billy Welp

Arm Action

I'm talking here about the ball arm action - the pushover and the pendulum. There are dangers here that can leave all the process out.

Once a wrong move is made, there is no correction, short of pure luck or hitting the right angle.

The long a pushover causes the ball to be late in the backswing which will throw your approach off balance. Some go for too short a pushover. Often the short pushover, or none at all, causes a hitch in the pendulum. You want a remedy for pushover in the initial arm action? You guessed it. Practice.

Notice the others. No bread, after the pushover, the ball drops and the pendulum begins.

Offers a short pushover or none at all comes a black in the arm action.

The team appearing on the television program is Eric Malenbacher, captain, of Prospect Heights; Nancy Kattagel of Wheeling and John Smeltz of Buffalo Grove.

The program will be televised on a Saturday at 6 p.m. Channel 5. The show has been pre-arranged with the Wheeling station competing against teams from Woodstock and Dwight D. Eisenhower Schools.

Vantage Point

... by Jack Vandermyn

The original idea of decriminalization of the Cook County Juvenile Court came from the Evanston Youth Commission. Under the first plan presented by the Evanston group, juvenile court hearings would be conducted by magistrates serving in five suburban districts of the Circuit Court.

It is apparent from a study of the Evanston plan that the decriminalization of the court doing the same thing with the juvenile court.

Under the judicial amendment, approved by the voters at the polls in 1962 and implemented in 1965, the jurisdiction of the peace and police magistrates was eliminated and all legal jurisdiction was passed to circuit court.

Cook County was divided into five judicial districts and magistrates of the court were assigned to these districts, eliminating the necessity of defendants traveling to Chicago for court hearings.

This system has worked very well, however, according to Walter P. Dahl, chief judge of the juvenile division of the circuit court, there is a tremendous difference in the handling of juvenile cases and those of adult offenders.

WHERE the judicial philosophy in handling juvenile and adult offenders exists in a fine distinction between the public welfare and the defendant's welfare.

In the case of an adult criminal, it is the court's responsibility primarily to protect the public. In the case of a juvenile offender, he is defendant, or dependent, it is the court's obligation to first protect the juvenile, without impairing the public interest.

Judge Dahl points out that juvenile court's first responsibility is to the defendant, or dependent, it is the court's obligation to first protect the juvenile, without impairing the public interest.

PROponents of the decriminalization of the court, separating or segregating youth and city juvenile offenders, believe that the degree of juvenile delinquency are different in the two areas.

Judge Dahl, who is on record as favoring a decriminalization of court facilities, but not segregation of the court, does not buy this theory. He says that the degree of delinquency is the same in both areas, but wrapped around the answer to the juvenile delinquency problem is prevention.

Money spent on prevention, he says, is in the city or suburbs, in money well spent, Judge Dahl believes. Splitting the juvenile delinquency from the circuit court into a suburban division, or to transfer the court's authority.

down by entrusting juvenile hearings to magistrates already heavily burdened with adult work, is not the answer. Judge Dahl believes that local agencies in the suburbs can best handle local juvenile problems.

When a problem develops beyond the scope of the local agency, it then becomes a case for juvenile court, but not before. Judge Dahl believes.

THE JUVENILE COURT Committee of Cook County PIA's plan is to provide juvenile court facilities from the basic work of the court.

In a report to the Illinois Congress of Parent Teacher Associations, the county group outlined its recommendations for the juvenile court, but not before. Judge Dahl believes.

There should be no delinquency supervision of any children, since so beneficial results could be achieved by artificial separation. The intervention of suburban residents in the general social discipline of the inner-city must be maintained.

All divisions which handle juvenile should be unified with judges of special experience. The juvenile court should be full time to the juvenile method of dealing with juvenile problems.

Each division should have a sufficient caseload to make full use of a complete range of court services and staff.

Immediate and adequate disposition of juvenile complaints should be available.

Obviously, the accomplishment of these goals will be impossible by merely switching cases from juvenile court to circuit court magistrates.

Basically, the goals of the Evanston Youth Commission, the PTA Council and Judge

Dahl all coincide — to provide more and better court services for juvenile cases in Cook County.

The big difference of opinion seems to be in the separation of city and suburban juveniles. Somewhere in this rapidly developing controversy, there has to be a compromise.

The best interests of the children, in the end, will be what all persons interested in the juvenile court system seek to protect.

Applique is a new needlework technique for making real-looking, three-dimensional flowers. Have chrysanthemums and marigolds made of rickrack are used to trim a simple dress and create a pay wall hanging.

For Pre-Garden Doldrums

Sculptured Flowers For Almost Anything You Own

BY MARILYN HELFERS

Are you looking for something to do until you can finally put the garden? The newest art form for the sewing circle is called Applique, a new way to make three-dimensional sculptured flowers from rickrack to decorate anything. According to the William W. Wright Co., who invented the word and the technique, various colors and sizes of rickrack, yarn, bonding and tubing can be combined to create a whole garden full of real-looking, colorful, three-dimensional flowers.

Flowers such as marigolds, roses from bud-size to full-blown cabbage, daisies, forget-me-nots, chrysanthemums and bachelor buttons, as well as leaves and stems, can be made by interlocking and stitching inexpensive trimmings.

HERE, for example, applique is used to trim a simple bell-sleeved shift or orange linen. Marigolds and baby mums in fuchsia shades of lavender, yellow, orange and rose mingle with leaves and grass to accent the sleeve. A chemical drycleaning perch on the shoulder. The wall hanging lists air flowers of scarlet, rose, orange and yellow against pale linen and a small dragonfly.

Highlights of the afternoon will be the chance for visitors to talk with T & D Center staff about the new techniques in teaching.

For instance, Mrs. Doris Ferraro, a mathematics expert, will discuss how dried beans and Baggies can be used to teach mathematics. A child counts out ten beans, places them in a Baggie, and it is shut. To measure 37 beans, the child counts out 10 in full and seven beans left in his hand.

Mathematically, he has three tens and seven units worth of tens.

Touching and handling the place values gives him as much as he can. The place values that he may never get from mere cut-and-paste representation.

Dr. Joseph J. Vukobrat, formerly assistant principal of DIST, is Grover Junior High School, a member of the National Curriculum Center. He will explain new techniques to

Opposition Strong To Zoning Change

Amendments to make Rep. Eugene Schlickman's proposed legislation to enable municipalities to control zoning on their borders have failed to convince Cook County Board legislative committee to support the bill.

In House Bills 15 and 16, Schlickman, an Arlington Heights Republican, proposes to enable municipalities to have the final say on land use of territory within 1 1/2 miles of their corporate limits.

At the present time, the county board board of appeals has the final say and this, in many cases, causes unincorporated areas to develop out of step with municipal master plans.

SCHLICKMAN proposes amendments to the legislation measures.

Sharing of School Computer Studied

Area school superintendents recently with Harper College representatives to discuss the college's providing public schools in its district with special service run as a cooperative for the individual schools.

Superintendents attending the meeting included Edward C. Berni, High School Dist. 214; Gerald McHenry, High School Dist. 211; Ralph E. Chabough, Dist. 26; Louis P. Pansino, Dist. 23; Eric A. Shaberg, Dist. 27; John Berger, Dist. 26; E.S. Castro, Dist. 15; and Daniel Thomas, Dist. 29.

They agreed with Harper College President Robert E. Lahti that interdistrict cooperation between the public schools and Harper could be both beneficial and economical.

Superintendents of school districts in the Harper College district met with Harper College officials to discuss plans for future co-operative use of the college's computer facilities and other special services. Those attending the meeting included: from left, standing, E.S. ## Some Day

One of the independent candidates for village trustee in Arlington Heights refuses to appear on a panel show because he thinks the questions would be rigged.

The four is probably absurd because whoever heard of a "limited" question being asked in a political conference? It does open up an interesting area of thought. Here are a few questions for the candidates, in case the meeting gets dull.

"Why do the garbage men want my best garbage can?"
"Why doesn't the village board change the name of our town to something sensible like Sticksnappers Heights and why doesn't the state shorten the name of Arlington Heights to A.H.?"

"Why don't you tell the enemy Booker?"

"If you think officials could not find a blab in the hall of a neighboring village recently when they started to swear in some new officers. Here was a blab in our hall?"

"When will the utility tax start going?"

"Are you in favor of depriving the railroad or the highways?"

"How tall do you think the tallest building in town should be?"

"Why don't police make kids stop throwing snowballs?"

"Do you want stolen homes or a golf course for the rich?"

"What about the school buses?"

"Are you in favor of aerial scoopers flying over my house to find the new swimming pool that is not on my tax bill?"

"Should schools in our area will have school buses to take them to school?"

"Do you think they should apply for federal funds?"

... by Frank E. Von Arx

"Why are people voting against me?"

"Why are most rooms in public places so hard to find and so poorly maintained when you find them?"

"What provisions are you making for the next tornado or major snowstorm?"

"And there is that man-faced ogre of all evil who answered. That was the query of a reporter, while the politician, during the great winter storm."

"Where is my husband?"

Vantage Point

We have received several letters in our three columns since the Cook County Juvenile Court system. People want to know how to go about finding out more about the court and the de-moralization issue.

Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect both have active youth commissions. Wheeling Township has a town wide youth commission in the formative stages.

Area Parent-Teacher Associations have been active in juvenile delinquency work. The League of Women Voters has acquired an excellent report on the juvenile court system.

All in all, there are plenty of sources of information for those desiring to take a step deeper into the study of the court and its future implications on the suburban area.

Our report was intended to demonstrate state of the juvenile court system. At this point, we are not quite ready to make a positive statement concerning our present position on the court de-moralization. That will come after more study.

THOUGHTFUL discussions with Arlington Heights Judge Walter P. Dalk, chief juvenile court judge, prevention was stressed as the best answer to juvenile crime.

A recent white-collar crime with Judge Dalk's position is that of the Illinois Department of Public Safety.

Randolph, who is no stranger to juvenile problems having served as warden of Pontiac prison, one of the state penal institutions for young offenders, stated recently.

"The way to prevent crime is to reduce the opportunity to commit it."

Specifically, Randolph was referring to auto theft as a case of opportunity.

Statistically, auto theft is one of the most common crimes committed by juvenile offenders.

Randolph points out that while only 34 per cent of the nation's population is 15 to 19 year old age bracket, that age group is responsible for 12.8 per cent of all arrests. And 15 and 16 year olds have the highest arrest rate in the country.

LOOKING to the future, with 23 per cent of the population under the age of 10, it is obvious that the juvenile problem can only increase in seriousness and scope.

It is strange to note that of the court officials contacted by the county, the majority are by juvenile offenders. A recent federal bureau of investigation report states that of the cited cases, 42 per cent had the father in the picture.

This points out the lack of family therapy that car theft, in almost one out of two cases, is a result.

Looking at the car is no unusual case that will not be taken. Randolph points out. He said that 20 per cent of the stolen cars with locked ignition were taken simply by forcing the ignition with such simple devices as paper clips or tin foil.

ONE WAY to prevent crime, Randolph points out, is to remove temptation. It appears that a reflection in some traffic can be achieved by production of a better way of securing the ignition system on the part of auto manufacturers — and by a policy of locking their cars by the drivers.

Randolph believes that a simple job rule car theft can start if you down the criminal path that will eventually lead him in reform and prison.

We have seen so much of that in our state penal institutions. Randolph said, "That I feel car stealing must be cut off. With that, cars that whenever stolen can be found officers, we can reduce the crime rate and the number of youths who wind up in criminal prisons."

AS FAR as the future is concerned, Randolph paints a gloomy picture. "The public has little or no comprehension of the extent of crime, particularly among juveniles."

Randolph believes that if the present trend continues, one day in every six will be either red to juvenile court and that 40 per cent of the population under 18 will be living in the United States will be arrested for offenses committed during their lives.

These are scary statistics. But we had better keep in mind as we plan for future court facilities — juvenile and adult.

No Diagonal Parking?

Why Not a Drag Strip?

Editor:

I've been reading about the diagonal parking on Campbell St. I can't understand the logic of whether or not the diagonal parking will be a success or a failure. It's a well known fact that even those that will try to avoid it. The most obvious fact is that the business will be hurt. The most obvious fact is that the business will be hurt. The most obvious fact is that the business will be hurt.

making a need for more money. They cost money. That's why it's so necessary that such a thing be suggested. All at the same time, other communities are encouraging business and industry to help alleviate taxes on the business.

While I'm at it, I can say that I'm not a fan of diagonal parking. I've seen it in many places and it's always a mess. I've seen it in many places and it's always a mess. I've seen it in many places and it's always a mess.

Perhaps as alternate plans would be to provide a drag strip outside the business district so that impatient residents and transients don't be inconvenienced by them and the traffic.

DOCTOR SAYS

Heart Palpitation

W.C. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What causes palpitation of the heart? Is there anything I can do to help?

A — Palpitation, as acute awareness of your heart's action, is a common phenomenon. It is a common phenomenon. It is a common phenomenon.

Q — My husband is 40. For years he has had a palpitation of 90 when he is awake and 80 when he is asleep. The electrocardiogram has been normal. He says he is not fat. Is this a pulse palpitation?

A — If you have seen that your husband's heart is normal, then other tests should be ordered. Since palpitation causes an increase in the heart rate, the could be the cause or at least an added factor. It would be responsible to get a low heart rate. Your husband's pulse is not without having more about its causes.

Your Right to Know

The public's right to know, to have unlimited access to the workings of government at every level, is one of the principal guarantees of the United States Constitution.

A bill introduced in the State Legislature by Rep. Anthony Scarsano (D. Park Forest), and bearing the endorsement of Rep. Eugene Schickman (R. Arlington Heights) is of concern to all new media and to the public.

Scarsano's legislation will close two loopholes in the present law. First, it will make perfectly clear that any meeting of any governing body, elected or appointed, will be held in public whether the deliberations of that body lead to conclusions or not.

Second, the Scarsano bill will require that all public agencies give adequate advance notice of scheduled meetings so that the press and public are informed of the meeting dates. In the case of special meetings, special notice will be required.

Fortunately, violation of the public meeting law has not been a severe problem in the northwest suburban area where government is close to the people.

There have been exceptions to this, but they have been few and far between and there is much cause for concern that the public's right to know is being eroded.

As the northwest suburban area continues to grow and to develop, government may not always be as close to the people as it is now. That would be reason enough for us to support Scarsano's legislation.

Governing bodies must always remember that they are the servants, but the masters of the people. Close scrutiny of all governmental activity by an active, responsible free press is the greatest insurance that the healthy attitude will always be maintained.

But more important, we base our endorsement of the Scarsano bill on the principle that the government is in fact by the people, for the people.

While perhaps not a violation of the statute as it is now written, this is certainly a violation of the intent of the public meetings law.

Traditional baked ham is prepared in an easy to serve manner for Easter dinner.

Traditional Easter Dinner

Serve Ham with a Quick Cherry Sauce

BY MARILYN HELFERS

One of the traditional meats served for Easter dinner is ham. If you're wondering when you'll have time to prepare dinner, it is because of the early spring asparagus now on the market or equally good with frozen peas and canned boiled onions. Scalloped potatoes make a nice accompanying vegetable and can take right along with the ham. French's has a new Hollandaise sauce mix that is delicious with some of the early spring asparagus now on the market or equally good with frozen peas and canned boiled onions. Don't forget to put out all those colored Easter eggs for dinner.

Still Time

Hot Cross Buns

Have you served hot cross buns to your family this Easter season? You will have time to make some. They are rising while you're getting the house ready for the weekend, or decorating all those Easter eggs.

HOT CROSS BUNS

2 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/4 cup milk, scalded
1/2 cup melted oil or melted butter
1/2 cup sugar
3/4 cup flour
2 1/2 to 3 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 to 1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup raisins or 1/2 cup chopped dried fruit and 1/2 cup currants

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine milk, scalded oil, sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Sift together 1 cup of the flour and cinnamon. Stir into the milk mixture. Add eggs, beat well. Add the softened yeast and fruit. Add the remaining flour (or more or less to make a soft dough). Knead well. Cover with a damp cloth and let rise until double (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down and turn out on lightly floured surface. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Shape into buns (roll 1/2-inch thick, cut into rounds and a 2 1/2 inch biscuit cutter, then shape them into buns). Put them on a greased baking sheet.

Brush each with slightly beaten egg white. Sprinkle each roll with shallow cuts. Bake in 375 degree oven for 15 minutes. The recipe yields 1 1/2 to 2 dozen rolls.

Remove buns to rack to cool slightly. Pipe frosting cream on top of buns while they are still warm. Frosting is made by combining 1/4 cup sifted confectioners sugar with the remaining egg white.

Today's Grandma? She Is a Real Swinger

BY BETTY AINSIE

My grandmother at 55 was as old lady to my young eyes. Her face told, unembellished and rose checked, was draped in a coat of steel gray hair wrapped into a tight bun on the back of her neck. She wore gray, dark blue, brown or white dresses to her ankles and always a long size platinum. She lived with long string ties and her simple mode.

She was living testimony of the beautiful Southern dancin' of Maryland fresh chicken, hand raised and whipped potatoes, light baking, powder biscuits, cold buttered cottage pudding — a savored unadorned course sliced in the middle to hold a pineapple slice and covered with a rich butter sauce and a pineapple slice and covered with a rich butter sauce and a pineapple slice and covered with a rich butter sauce and a pineapple slice.

MORRIS

The Minor 1000 proves to many a woman that she's as successful driver. The car sits at right angles to the ground, and maneuver through town traffic with ease. How else to think that she can't be wrong just the one she wanted him to want.

The story of the Morris Minor 1000 is a success story. No other car from Britain has enjoyed such a successful history. From the 1948, 810-c.c. side-valve version to today's powerful 1098-c.c. overhead-valve engine, the story of the Minor is a story of continuous success. Well over a million motorists from all over the world prove its popularity - and its versatility. Its performance is brilliant! Despite this road-building, half-a-century's touring experience, grow-into the actual condition.

Vantage Point

... by Jack Vandernym

"Why don't you forget about what they'll name the child and come to bed?"

One of the more controversial issues surrounding today's youngsters is Arlington Heights, Mount Pleasant and Rolling Meadows. The latter, a teen night club operated by Paul Johnson and Tom Johnson.

In the College group or half should it be allowed to operate or should it be closed? Does The Collar serve as a bad influence on youngsters, or is it a result of an overall symptom?

Depending upon whom you talk, it is possible to receive positive and negative answers to all of the above questions. First, let's set the record straight for those who perhaps wonder about the character of the two men who operate The Collar.

Sampson and Johnson are fast becoming big names in the music business. Many well-known groups have gotten a start down the road to big time success through their involvement with the pair. They are both responsible members of the local business community. Most notable of their accomplishments are the Shadow Box of Arlington Heights and the Samson-Johnson tangle. The Shadows have gained national fame and are one of the big money music attractions tearing the nation.

The Shadows get their start at The Collar. Other young music groups in Arlington Heights, Mount Pleasant and Rolling Meadows, also are at The Collar.

THE COLLAR now operates on Friday and Saturday nights. It is allowed to operate by the grace of weekly license privileges granted by Arlington Heights Village Manager, L.A. Hanson.

Certainly, what you're doing from 400 to 600 lively teens is a more arousing stimulating music and dancing, you are going to have a certain number of problems. But the problems that we have noted from a long observation of The Collar are overruled in relationship to the overall situation.

For the most part, Collar patrons are residents of Arlington Heights-Mount Pleasant - Rolling Meadows area. You'll pay $1 for admission - and if they want music programs, have to pay another dollar to park in it.

Supervisors of The Collar are done by Arlington Heights policemen, paid by Arlington Heights-Mount Pleasant - Rolling Meadows area. You'll pay $1 for admission - and if they want music programs, have to pay another dollar to park in it.

WHEN The Collar operates with more police supervision, there will be trouble for the patrons - although we stress that today's teens at The Collar are the exception rather than the rule.

Sampson and Johnson run a tight ship at The Collar. They have a system of identification cards while not perfect, does help to keep a bad student out.

For the operators, there is no doubt that The Collar is a money-making operation. It is in their benefit to keep all the within of the village.

Sampson and Johnson want us this. They want to upgrade, not just because of the money involved but because of the prestige and interest for the patrons who call The Collar "the new... the only place to go in the Arlington Heights area."

TO THOSE who would drive The Collar out of Arlington Heights, and in all fairness, the local community come from outside the village, we wonder what they offer as a solution to the problem?

There are other teen night spots in the Arlington Heights area, some notorious in reputation. The Collar, among the kids, enjoys the best reputation. It is known as "the place."

It would be easy, if arbitrary, for Hanson to shut The Collar down. But the community would not be any longer "the place."

Thus far, The Collar, while not the perfect answer in the middle of crisis, is the best solution going.

Pay and Progress

Looking for a job? Planning your future?

Then you may be interested in a little pamphlet the U. S. Labor Department has produced.

By ruthless pressing, the government experts have compressed into a mere 66 pages their educational guesses on the employment outlook in the next decade.

What it boils down to is that your best bet to latch on to a job and climb the ladder of success is to become one of those technical, mathematical, electronic maintenance worker, computer programmer, teacher, repairman, librarian, auto-mechanics and refrigeration, machine, construction craftsman, health or welfare worker - or, of course, a government employee, especially on the state or local level.

The forecasters believe you'll be unemployed on a long shot if you settle for less.

led work in industry or on the farm. Even semiskilled labor doesn't look too hot.

(Automation and the technology boom, you know.)

This would seem to suggest to the job seeker or career planner to consider:

1. Go to school or vocational training classes or do anything else to learn as much as you can.

2. Ask his wife or mother to please use one of those mood detectors that washes whiter than white. (For the white collar worker, it seems to be true.)

3. All that may not be exactly the way some of us would prefer to go. But it seems to be the surest path to pay check and progress.

Can you think of a better incentive to go along with the trend?

Some Day

The saddest sight of all is to see a sports editor post.

There is a fellow in the neighborhood who goes around town selling people that nobody asks him, but...

Last week he wanted to know why the super markets do not move time between noon and 3 p.m. on Saturdays for husbands who have to shop for their wives. He believes his hands should have equal rights, that they should be guaranteed a measure of safety and permitted to roam the shopping centers without property of being run down by one of those by-whom cars used to carry the family groceries to the checkout counter.

Last year this same sports editor tried to predict the outcome of our state basketball finals. The results were 100 per cent. all wrong. The boys' team, because Peoria roared to its championship the year without a winner.

The male shopping hour, however, is a waste. It is the greatest idea since John Woods told the North Western railroad to start digging. There is absolutely no room for a man and a woman on the same shopping floor.

A woman enters a super market with positive attitude. She clothes a volume of American currency to her husband and draws a free economy to her decision while her first examining every particle of merchandise available.

A man enters the same fray in exactly the opposite form of mind. He keeps one hand on his wallet. He keeps one hand on his wallet. He keeps one hand on his wallet. He keeps one hand on his wallet.

A man is simply not capable of shopping today. He knows nothing about home runs, blips, bores or trading stamps.

Some day a man will get to the check out counter and he will not even have his coupons.

... by Frank E. Von Arx

As long as there are women who must spend more advancing into that great last frontier the super market, at least they can do it provide them a few hours of privacy to his complete impatience with the shadowed looks of other female experts.

A man is simply not capable of shopping today. He knows nothing about home runs, blips, bores or trading stamps.

Some day a man will get to the check out counter and he will not even have his coupons.

Horrible Scene Helpful

—By Catherine O'Donnell

The scene was of horrible that it defied description. There on a chair sat a man whose head had been amputated. Near him was another man who had been shot in the abdomen.

On the floor was a man with a compound fracture of his leg, so badly broken that the bone was sticking out. The fourth member of this macabre scene was an auto accident victim who had numerous cuts and a broken neck.

As a hawking out of his collection from a break in the collar bone.

If an unknown stranger walked upon that set of the Rolling Meadows Five Descent he would either be named or at least expected the victim to be in a state of shock. They were laughing and talking with each other. Their wounds were the creation of a fire department helicopter.

And Lench, who did it all with a mechanical makeup and bulb of red wax.

The victims were about to be worked on by members of a recent annual first aid class. They were the creation of a fire department helicopter.

Lenny has been teaching the firemen and the Civil Defense and disaster units of the city since he received his certificate as an instructor six years ago.

"Fire Chief Tom Fogarty set up a terrific training program for the fire, police and Civil Defense units," Lenny said. "Police Chief Campbell and Sgt. Bill O'Brien, as well as the fire chief, are strong believers in having the units trained well."

The present course is for the Fireman-Disaster unit. The course for the firemen ended March 14. The course for the firemen ended March 14.

Lench. He is really an expert in makeup. We call it "vivid and real." It is one thing to describe a "victim" but sometimes seeing an actual accident case is too much for the first time. After our course, the students know exactly what they will see.

Lench was with the Rolling Meadows and was in Walgreen's Drug store in the Arlington Heights. He did not say whether L. Lench's preoccupation with realism and anything to do with his real occupation. What he's doing is a makeup expert for the firemen.

Feminine Is Word For Easter Bonnets

BY MARILYN HELLERS
Women's Editor

Fashion thought for this weekend center mainly around hats. Even the girl that doesn't wear hats all year around wouldn't be caught without an Easter bonnet on Easter Sunday.

There is still time to get a new Easter chapeau, especially if our last few weeks, giving the days made you decide last year's hat just isn't quite so.

The story of this year's Easter bonnet is told in bright colors and light, airy materials. Flowers, chiffon, straw, weight, tulle, Panama straw and any crocheted straws are among the favorites. Brims take off in every direction from off-the-face rollers, large and small to wide, floppy, rippled brims.

Even this Easter bunny has turned her thoughts to a feminine bonnet for the Easter parade.

This year's return to femininity in this alabaster straw ripple brim with its wraparound of matching chiffon by Archie Eason.

Easter bonnets will include the perky, shock-of-the-head roller with its face-framing band of flowers by Lilly Dache.

Vivid tones of gold and mango project the simplicity of design in the brand new jungle petal hat by Lilly Dache.

A most flattering alabaster is the water-arch cloche of over-sized flowers by Sally Victor.

A Walk in a Beautiful Jungle of Calla Lillies

One thousand to three thousand calla lilies are grown and sent to market every week by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Scharringhausen of Arlington Heights.

The calla lily is a stately white flower which came from the banks of the Nile and is now grown mainly in greenhouses in America. The white funnel-shaped flower, especially popular at Easter, is not really a flower at all. The white funnel is really a water leaf while the real flowers are tiny, inconspicuous things crowded on the yellow, rod-like central stalk in the center.

The Scharringhausens start planting the lilies in June in their greenhouse and by late November to December the flowers start to bloom. A lily is the greenhouse where the lilies are grown in like a jungle. The plants and leaves grow nearly five feet tall and the flowers are on a long, shaggy stalk. Flowers are picked by pulling the long stem out, much the same way you would gather rhubarb.

Mrs. Irving Scharringhausen of Arlington Heights is pictured in their greenhouse filled with blooming calla lilies.

The white stately calla lily, grown in Irving Scharringhausen's greenhouse, blooms amid the dense foliage of its elephant-like leaves.

REALTORS
Those Pledged to an Established Code of Ethics

BE SURE...
When you are buying or selling real estate, a good way to be sure that you are doing the right thing is to transact your business through a Realtor.

Are you planning to buy or sell real estate? If so, here's the most important fact you should know before making any kind of real estate transaction. It's this: Not every real estate man or woman is a Realtor! You see, Realtors are professional real estate men and women who are members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors. These men and women subscribe to the professional standards of an established code of ethics. What does all this mean to you? Exactly this: When you sell ... a Realtor is able to tell you accurately what your real estate is likely to bring ... and able to market it for you as quickly as conditions warrant. When you buy ... a Realtor is able to find property for you which meets your needs and pocketbook. A Realtor is ready and willing to put his own house of real estate knowledge and information at your service. Visit or phone him.

Britain's most successful car... the

MORRIS
MINOR 1000

The Minor 1000 proves to many a woman that she's an independent driver. She can slip in and out of tight parking places and maneuver through town traffic with ease. They like to think that the car she wanted was just the car she wanted him to want.

The story of the Morris Minor 1000 is a success story. No other car from Britain has enjoyed such a successful history. From the 1940s, it has also been written in today's powerful 1000cc. overhead-valve engine, the story of the Minor is a story of continuous success. That's why a million individual people all over the world prove its popularity, and no wonder, the performance is brilliant. Simple-the most reliable, best-in-breed steering accuracy, zero-to-the-wind vibration.
